The RBAI Foundation

RBAI FOUNDATION

Enduring Excellence

The strength of great schools lies not only in their history, but in their ability to plan purposefully for the future. That belief continues to guide the Board of Governors as we take forward the most significant capital and philanthropic programme in RBAI's history.

Our ambition remains clear: to ensure that RBAI continues to offer educational excellence in the heart of Belfast whilst remaining accessible to talented young men from all backgrounds through a transformative bursary programme.

Almost £1 million has been pledged since the launch of the Enduring Excellence campaign and we are grateful to everyone who has been able to support us so far.

This academic year marks an important moment of transition on our College Square East site. The first phase of the new South Wing is firmly on track for completion in the spring and we now have a sense of the scale and benefit it will provide for current and future generations of pupils.

We are mindful that this is the final year of teaching in the W Block, the home to the English and Geography Departments for over a century. Many great characters have both taught and been educated in the W Block. It holds a special place in our history and we look forward to celebrating that appropriately later this academic year.

As you read this report, I trust you will see clear evidence of how philanthropy is strengthening the School and helping ensure RBAI stays at the forefront of education in Northern Ireland.

Michael Howard.

Mr R M Howard
BSc, FCA
Chairman of the Board of Governors

Fulfilling Our Mission Together

On becoming Principal of RBAI, I have been astounded by the breadth and depth of the education that the boys experience, and the impact that this has on them as they make their journey through boyhood, becoming men of substance. That this can happen is only possible through the extraordinary culture of philanthropy which is integral to this unique and incredible school. Already, I can tell the extent to which parents and the Instonian community have bought into this mission and how determined they are to cherish it, and make it as wonderful as it can be. This is evidenced in so many ways, not least the generous support provided for bursaries, the new South Wing, and the Scholarship & Exhibition Programme.

I was delighted to see that all Year 14 pupils who received bursaries last year have matriculated to university this year and are pursuing courses which range across the academy, allowing them to follow their passions and ambitions, often in the most competitive universities and courses.

The importance of refurbishing and upgrading the Science laboratories a number of years ago has been demonstrated by the outstanding GCSE and A Level results secured by the Sciences this year, and I am excited to see the same impact wrought by the completion of Phase I of the South Wing on the English and Geography Departments, not to mention on the boys' enjoyment of lunches!

Informed by our core values of excellence, respect and participation, which are woven through all that we do, the Scholarship & Exhibition Programme continues to support pupils with outstanding ability to fulfil their potential, whilst inspiring their younger peers to follow in their footsteps when their time comes.

All of these initiatives benefit our pupils in a tangible way but are only possible because of the vision and generous support of alumni, parents and friends of the School. I look forward to meeting and personally thanking as many of you as possible throughout the year.

Your Support At Work

South Wing Development

Construction of the new South Wing will provide the necessary infrastructure to support the educational needs of 1,100 pupils and staff moving forward, securing the School's future as a fully integrated city centre school.

Near Zero Carbon development will see energy inefficient buildings replaced with new facilities, significantly reducing the School's energy costs and carbon footprint.

Once completed, the development of new landscaped zones will improve pupil and staff wellbeing.

Thousands of pupils will benefit from this investment in the coming decades and it will play an important part in helping us prepare future leaders and innovators.

Phase I is now well underway and will comprise:

- 14 bright, spacious, state of the art classrooms designed to be adaptable and flexible, meeting the needs of evolving curriculum requirements.
- A new drama studio, providing a creative space for current and future generations of pupils.
- A contemporary multi-purpose dining hall where pupils can gather, which can also be used for school events.

Phase II will see the demolition of the W Block and existing dining hall, and the construction of a new accessibility lift and stairwell at the back of the Soane building. Phase III will see further classrooms, a 25m swimming pool and boardroom suite.

Equipping Pupils

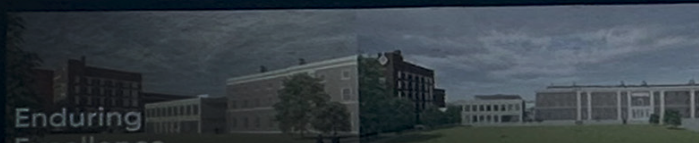

Nicholas Allen (RBAI 1983-90), Baldwin Professor in Humanities and Director of the Wilson Center for Humanities and Arts at the University of Georgia, delivered a compelling workshop for Year 13 pupils, sharing insights from the creation of his latest book 'Late Heaney'.

Inspiring Minds

Sponsorship from Thomas Cole (RBAI 1960-68) helped RBAI's Senior Robotics Team reach the FIRST Tech Challenge UK Finals in London, enhancing their computing and problem solving skills, whilst competing against some of the most prestigious schools from across the UK.

Transformative Bursaries

As a multi-cultural, integrated grammar school in the heart of Belfast for more than 200 years, RBAI believes that education plays a vital role in social mobility, particularly given evidence of low educational aspiration and attainment amongst boys from disadvantaged backgrounds.

The Board of Governors deem that no eligible pupil should be denied an education at RBAI because their parents or guardians cannot afford the fees, and continue to make bursary provision for up to 10% of pupils.

By removing financial barriers, the RBAI Bursary Programme transforms the future trajectory for pupils from less advantaged backgrounds, having an immeasurable impact on their future lives.

Oliver Peron (RBAI 2019-26) recently matriculated to Queen's University Belfast, where he is studying Planning, Environment and Development Technology BSc (Hons).

Oliver, whose parents are from Poland, grew up in Lisburn and attended Brownlee Primary School. He has always been a problem solver, constantly building or fixing things at home, so it came as no surprise to his parents or teachers that Oliver pursued a degree in this field.

The draw of an all-boys school and RBAI's recently opened Centre Of Innovation appealed greatly to Oliver's parents on Open Day. As he progressed through school, his reports highlighted his growing maturity, diligence and creativity. Oliver thrived in A Level Design & Technology, which includes a major design project that accounts for 50% of the grade.

"Designing a product and building the prototype was amazing. Working independently developed my problem-solving and critical thinking skills."

Alongside his studies, Oliver enjoyed the RBAI Chess Club and was very committed to Lisburn Boxing Club, where he trained several times a week and regularly competed.

Reflecting on his career at RBAI, Oliver appreciates the time and care his teachers invested in him, feeling it helped prepare him for university study;

"Mr Peak in particular was incredibly supportive throughout sixth form, always pushing me to do my best. RBAI has given me the skills and confidence to pursue my dream career."

Reagan Lath Amou (RBAI 2018-25) matriculated to Heriot Watt University last year to study Civil Engineering BSc (Hons).

Since appearing in RBAI's bursary video last autumn, Reagan followed a successful first year at university with a summer placement at globally recognised engineering, design and consulting firm ARUP.

The internship gave Reagan an opportunity to implement skills learnt on his course, including the use of CAD, but he was struck by how important skills learnt as a Senior Prefect, during Commerce Week and playing rugby at school were in the workplace.

"Problem solving in engineering rarely belongs to one discipline. The placement reinforced the importance of good communication and collaboration between different specialties."

Ironically one of the major schemes Reagan worked on during the summer was the Grand Central and wider Weavers Cross project in Belfast;

"Working on the Grand Central project was particularly meaningful because I got the train to RBAI every day for seven years and immediately understood how a well-designed station with good pedestrian infrastructure will improve the travel experience for hundreds of RBAI pupils every day."

As he commences his second year of study, Reagan is confident that he is on the right career track;

"One evening during the internship, I looked at the clock and realised it was 9:30pm. I'd been working for hours without noticing as I was really enjoying what I was doing. That is when I realised I can really see myself doing this for life."

Enhancing Bursary Support

RBAI's Uniform Repurposing Shop was launched last year and has been a resounding success. Generous donations of uniform and sports kit from parents have enabled others to significantly reduce the financial strain that a new school year can bring.

Alongside Belfast City Council's Hardship Fund providing additional funding for pupils in receipt of Free School Meals to utilise in the dining hall during the winter months, we are grateful to the Belfast Old Instonians Association (BOIA) Benevolent Fund and the Mary Ann McCracken Bursary Programme for their ongoing support.

Scholarships & Exhibitions

The Scholarship & Exhibition Programme rewards excellence and outstanding ability, giving our most talented academics, sportsmen and musicians the best possible opportunity to fulfil their potential.

The 2025 Scholarship & Exhibition recipients celebrate their achievements with Principal Janet Williamson and Michael Howard, Chairman.

Alumni, Scholarship & Exhibition recipients and their families gather at the 2025 awards evening. The programme is funded entirely through generous donations from alumni and friends of the School, playing an important role in inspiring younger pupils.

Jamal Abdelnour was awarded The Kilmoyangie Scholarship for Pupil Development. This award recognised his significant improvement in attainment during Year 10 and his commitment to the life of the School through extra-curricular activities.

RBAI history was made as three brothers; Frank, Charles and Paul Hollway received Scholarships & Exhibitions for academic achievement and hockey.

Rowan Woods, Year 12, was awarded the Praus Music Scholarship for his achievements playing the French Horn, including membership of the School Orchestra and Jazz Band, and is now studying music at A Level.

Adam Boyd, Year 14, was awarded the Dr Kenneth Watson Sports Exhibition for his achievements in rugby, namely his contribution to RBAI's 2024 Schools' Cup win and representing Ulster and Ireland at U19 level.

Alumni Engagement

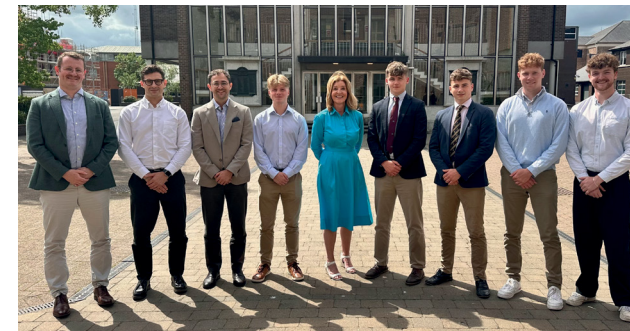

Alongside the ongoing Enduring Excellence fundraising campaign, The RBAI Foundation has maintained a diverse programme of activities involving alumni of the School.

Your School: We were delighted to welcome Robin Martin (RBAI 1946-53) back to School on his 91st birthday. Alongside seeing the newly installed pavilion his family had sponsored in his honour, Robin met the Principal and Senior Prefect Team, who asked him about his memories of the School.

Antipodean Instonians: Under the leadership of Dr Graham Collins (Inchmarlo & RBAI 1964-74) and Adrian Pilton (RBAI 1958-65), several generations of Instonians from Australia and New Zealand gathered for dinner and an engaging update on developments at RBAI from Governor Peter Shields (RBAI 1973-80).

Former Heads Of School Lunch: Retiring Principal Janet Williamson welcomed former Heads of School from her time as Principal back to RBAI for an afternoon of reminiscing, laughter and reflection. Those represented included the first Head of School she appointed, Jonny Madill (2007-08), and last, James West (2025-26).

Dublin Drinks: David Brangam (Inchmarlo & RBAI 1988-02), welcomed Dublin based alumni to Simmons & Simmons to hear RBAI Foundation Convenor James Rutherford explore the challenges and opportunities for RBAI in conversation with Chairman Michael Howard and fellow Governor Dawson Stelfox, alongside Vice-Principal Jack Allen.

London Campaign Launch: RBAI Foundation Convenor James Rutherford (RBAI 1970-77) hosted alumni for the launch of the Enduring Excellence Campaign. Chairman Michael Howard and Principal Janet Williamson briefed guests on the pivotal role alumni support is playing in shaping RBAI's future and maintaining its position as a leading school in Northern Ireland.

North West Gathering: Gareth Martin (RBAI 1994-01), hosted a gathering of alumni at Olliers Solicitors in Manchester. Senior Teacher Cillian Woods joined RBAI Foundation Convenor Jim Rutherford and RBAI Foundation Director Peter Anderson in updating guests on the Enduring Excellence campaign and all things Inst.

Donor Roll of Honour

The Royal Belfast Academical Institution is deeply indebted to the many alumni, parents and friends of the School, whose support will directly benefit current and future generations of our pupils.

We respect the wishes of those donors who wish to remain anonymous.

A Gift That Will Benefit Future Generations

For more than two centuries, legacies have played a vital role in helping RBAI provide a top quality educational experience for boys from all backgrounds.

Leaving a gift in your will is a tax efficient way of supporting RBAI, as it is free from inheritance tax.

If you are considering leaving a gift, or would like more information, contact Peter Anderson, RBAI Foundation Director in confidence:
